From the Pastor's Desk...

Today, for you and me, is the Seventh Sunday of Easter. For the rest of the world, with the exception of the northeast United States, today is the Feast of the Ascension. Judas's defection created problems because, as faithful Jews, the disciples would have seen the need for 12 apostles. There were 12 tribes of Israel, and they must achieve that same number. Notice that it is Peter who stands and calls them to elect a replacement. From the moment of the resurrection, the transformed Peter is seen as their leader. Bringing the apostles back to a number of 12 shows how the Christian Church is the reconstituted Israel.

We again today here John exhort us in his letter about love. He stresses, that based on the Father's action in the Son, charity is the believer's calling card and particular trait. Our love for one another is the same effective and merciful love with which God loves us in Christ. The degree to which we love others is the degree to which we know God. The Christian life is founded on the knowledge of God as love and on his continuing presence, made manifest by our love for one another. John stresses that faith and love are one. The believer is a person who recognizes that the life of Jesus was an act of God's love for all people, and he or she is called to duplicate that love in the way we treat others.

Two imperatives, one at the beginning of this gospel and another at the end, punctuate Jesus' prayer for his disciples: "keep them in your name" and "sanctify" or "consecrate them in truth." The truth comes from the Father through the Son, the mediator and protector of God's word. The unity between the Father and the Son is the source of the unity among Jesus and his disciples. Jesus protects his disciples so that none of them are lost except the son of destruction. In his prayer, Jesus emphasizes how his disciples are not of this world. As he concludes his prayer he asks that the disciples be "consecrated in truth." The term has two meanings. The first is to set apart or to make holy. The second meaning implies a sacrifice, a "laying down one's life" for their sake. In John's gospel, Jesus' death on the cross coincides with the hour of the sacrifice of the paschal lambs.

Celebrant of our Masses this weekend is Father Tom Fialkowski, retired pastor of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Parish and long-time faculty member at Cathedral Prep. A group of us are in southern Italy and Sicily.

Our parish Food Pantry distributed 10,737 pounds of food during the month of March at a cost to the parish of $371.13. We served 420 families including 225 children and 85 elderly people. Once again, thanks to your generosity and ongoing support of this project, it did not end up costing the parish anything.

May God bless our mothers and grandmothers on this Mother's Day as we try, in a small way, to express our gratitude to them for all they do and for what they mean in our lives. Today's bulletin contains a listing of all the mothers whom you wish to be particularly remembered in our Masses today.

Over 80 percent of Christians have disappeared from Iraq in the past ten years. A recent report states that ISIS has killed over 1,130 Christians and destroyed 125 of their churches in recent times, with many of the murders apparently going unreported in Western media. Recent cases include the discovery of a mass grave filled with the bodies of 40 Christians near the city of Mosul, where hundreds of Christian homes have been razed by extremist groups; and the murder of a young worker and a family of three that led Iraqi clergymen to wear a black insignia as a symbol of national mourning. Eighty-one percent of Iraq's Christians have now disappeared from the war-torn country, according to a new report from the Iraqi Human Rights Society.

The Catholic bishops of Quebec have discussed the possibility of ordaining married men to the priesthood. In introducing the subject at a news conference, Auxiliary Bishop Marc Pelchat of Quebec said consolidating parishes was not a solution to the lack of priests. "During a closed session of bishops, there was talk of the ordination of married men of a certain age, whose ecclesial commitment is tested. This is an important reflection that we have right now," he said. "The situation of churches continues to change. In the last decade, there has been a significant decline in the demand for sacraments, including even the funeral rite. The church has become like a vestige of the past, destined to be marginalized. The faithful still present believe that there's still Good News to share, but it will have to be done differently," he added. "We need to change this way of doing things," he said.

If you notice boxes and boxes stored in the southwest tower room, those are finished pipes that are being brought back to put the pipe organ back together. With over 3,000 pipes, you can imagine the work of removing them and taking them up to Organ Supply, then restoring them and, finally, getting them back here. They can't take these up into the balcony until they build the new frame for the organ.

I recently mentioned the pope's new letter, Gaudete et Exsultate (Be glad and rejoice), which is a treatise on holiness. It is sort of the opposite of everything that I was taught as a child about holiness. Let me share a few quotes from the letter because it is a teaching document. He writes, "We are frequently tempted to think that holiness is only for those who can withdraw from ordinary affairs to spend much time in prayer. That is not the case." "I like to contemplate the holiness present in the patience of God's people: in those parents who raise their children with immense love, in those men and women who work hard to support their families, in the sick in the elderly who never lose their smile." Jesus explained with great simplicity what it means to be holy when he gave us the Beatitudes."

The newspaper photographer was assigned to get aerial photos of a forest fire. The editor told him to rush to the airport and the plane would be waiting. When he got there, the plane was warming up, so he jumped in with his equipment and yelled, "Let's go." The pilot swung the plane into the wind and took off. The photographer told him to fly over the fire, and the pilot asked, "Why?" The photographer said, "I'm a photographer. I have to take pictures for the newspaper." "The pilot said, "You mean you're not the instructor?"

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ:

Ever since our Lord's admonition to feed the hungry, clothe the naked, and shelter the homeless, wherever and whomever they may be, the Church has been reaching out to those in need. Today I would like to ask you to join me, as members of the worldwide Catholic family, in helping the Church to continue to provide for our needy brothers and sisters throughout the world by giving generously to the International Needs Collection to be taken up in the Diocese of Erie the weekend of May 19-20.

This annual collection offers a concrete way for us to reach out to those who live in lands and cultures far from our own. It is a combination of three collections:

- The Collection for the Church in Central and Eastern Europe which helps build churches; train and educate seminarians, clergy, and lay leaders; publish Catholic newspapers; support orphanages; and support evangelization among children, youth, and adults;
- The Catholic Relief Services Collection which helps all people, regardless of race, creed, or nation, providing for the victims of war and natural disasters, aiding the Church suffering under persecution, alleviating poverty, and educating the poor; and
- The Support for the Church in Africa collection, which provides for the rapidly growing and vibrant Church on that continent.

Please give generously to the International Needs Collection on May 19-20 and, just as importantly, please include those in need in your prayers. Be assured of my prayers for you and your families and parishes.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

+Lawrence T. Persico

The Most Reverend Lawrence T. Persico, JCL
Bishop of Erie
